Purpose of introducing HULFT products

Automate the process from collecting quality logs from production sites to analyzing their quality conditions at the head office.

Issues prior to introducing HULFT products

Emails were the only means for collecting data from the business sites. This caused security concerns and also involved many work-hours for extracting items and sorting records before loading them into the log management database.

Effect of introducing HULFT products

Online interfaces have made it easier to link log data with overseas business sites. The automation of data integration from the business sites to the head office's database server has drastically reduced work-hours.
